British Resolution
 The new United-States Ambassador to Britain, Lewis W. Douglas, whose appointment was announced this week by President Truman, has visited his faith in the power of Britain and said he was certain that they would find a way out of the present crisis as a result of war. He drew a parallel between the behavior of Britons in war days and in the problems of the peace era. "If people are too fine, their character is not a character," he said. "It is not a character that is a character, it is a character that is a character." The American ambassador has deep ties with Britain. His great-grandfather, Sir James Douglas, was a soldier for Quebec. The new ambassador himself has been associated with Canada, having been chairman of McGill University.

British steadfastness and reliance have stood for ages and stand. Britain faced the Germans and the Japanese with a manner that will keep her name forever before the people who live free. Alone she stood against the bloodthirsty aggression in 1940 when by the overrunning of France by the enemy, she faced the possibility of a German attempt to invade. She refused to surrender, and she attempted to invade south Britain and Nazi hopes dashed forever.

Britain is assuming her great task. She plans to import labor, at least one hundred thousand workers being needed. Increased output and longer hours are asked for British workers. She intends to hold her exports at the highest levels in order to build up credits abroad and to improve the condition of living of her people.

The Season's Dress
 In no recent winter have so many young girls been able to sport themselves in dress as in such a degree as this season. The winter. The high snow banks along the roads and walks and the frequent falls of snow have made possible miniature slides everywhere. Every street has been able to provide scores of such spots to give the great outdoors unusual charm and attraction for the little boys and girls who have been enjoying the Canadian winter with a fulsome which will bring in dividends in robust health and keen active minds.

Winter scenes during the season 1946-47 have been unusually attractive because they have been seen in such a happy and carefree, with one sin, drinking to the full the vialling spirit of a winter's day. Their very joy, their very life, with the spirit of childhood. With their parkas and ski suits and the rich colorings of this attire these youngsters seem to have the very spirit of the winter in the winter setting in Ontario. Their dress is suitable because it is inspiring in the Native to the winter with its snows they are, these denizens of a fairly winterland, the persons who fashioned their suits de serve the praise of young and old for creating a style that is so suited for the child at play in the snow.

Who always have their elders been so sensible as they are today, when they are taking a lead out of the skybook and the young girls, their mothers and even adults seemed to enjoy fashions when adults suffered intensely from the cold. Now there has prevailed and comfort is the chief essential.

Youths and men have adopted the requirements of the climate. Many of them wear hoods, which can mock as the coldest temperatures and the other aspects of the frolics and the fun of the winter for newspaper advertising, over all other media.

These steps to take:
 Be thoughtful—stay at home to protect others and yourself—cover coughs and sneezes. Start treatment at the first sign of a cold.
 Rest in bed.
 Eat simple, wholesome food with plenty of liquids.
 Destroy bacteria or sterilize handkerchiefs carrying nose or throat discharges.
 Consult a doctor immediately if fever, body-aches or weakness occur or if coughing of mucus from chest occurs.

Colds are dangerous and frequently are followed by more serious illnesses, such as pneumonia or tuberculosis. Among means of cold infection are included use of unwarmed, or poorly warmed, cups, glasses, towels, handkerchiefs, handling of objects on which an infected person has sneezed and also handshaking.

Car Licences
 Many motorists have been prevented by the recent unavailability of weather conditions from renewing their car licences and driving permits for 1947, thousands of them, according to the statement of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles, who has just announced the extension of the term of 1946 motor vehicle licences and 1946 driving permits to March 31, 1947. The statement was issued at Toronto.

Minister Amine March has returned home from Montreal and Quebec City where she visited with her mother, Mrs. Charles Campbell, city councillor, and her brother, Mr. Charles Campbell, city councillor, and her brother, Mr. Charles Campbell, city councillor.

Licking the Dish
 Mourning our lost youth, not the least of our regrets is that for the delectable foods that so many people used to enjoy, eating along this line, "licking the dish" inevitably comes to mind.

This engrossing problem had to do with eating. There was at that time, of course, no shortage of sugar, and cakes and bakings were limited only by the imagination and skill of the mother who was by all odds, the best cook in the world. In only one thing was she deficient, she could never afford to eat the last scrap of anything, especially the last scrap of anything, especially the last scrap of anything.

What she left was ours. It was a white sugar icing, but the day was complete, but it was chocolate. But even the remnant of the cake, better still, but not to be scorned. It was a rich buttery, filling quality that well repaid the labor with a large spoon accurately and audaciously around inside the earthenware bowl.

Of course, such eating is below our dignity today. Cake is something to be consumed only in its finished state, daintily, with a fork. The other end of the line, if left alone with a good mixing bowl and a big spoon.

Is Apology One of the Lost Arts?
 Count among the lost arts of that making the appropriate apology, of using the simple and once so familiar phrase, "I'm sorry." This, it may be said, has occurred or someone has been put to unnecessary trouble.

Shirt "Yardstick" Helps Him Design Modern Furniture

New York (CP)—With his shirt as yardstick, George Nelson, architect and writer, turned to furniture designing without ever having seen the inside of a furniture factory. The result is a new line of furniture combining the light contemporary touch with practical features.

Nelson started with a fixed line, that the only sensible unit for a bureau drawer is a man's shirt. Manufacturers, however, were wasting effort and money making hundreds of different units using yardsticks of different sizes. He decided to place them when fashioning the size of shirts were designed.

His bureau drawers designed by Nelson are of a convenient depth and width to accommodate folded shirts. Two of his "padding coats" have 20 designed possibilities, he estimates, and the time when they can be put together from standard-cut plywood sheets with real assembly line technique and economy.

Class, Modern
While made in class, modern lines, his collection is different from most contemporary pieces in that they employ dark wood as the basic material. The designer makes his basic cabinet with what he calls a silver walnut top and ends and corners lacquer on the dressed sides. He used three shades of lacquer—green or bittersweet red, and white and black—with blonde.

Others interested him partly because they are furniture pieces that are not too expensive. His tables have pull-out tops with removable and extendable.

Dressing tables are successful, if they can make their own. If they can make their own, they are like a yardstick, Nelson says. In his own designs, he has borrowed all possible tricks of the trade. The draped, the feathered cut, the use of a barbed wire to hold the wood and have silver handles.

Nelson's designs stretch into future where furniture could be made of a prefabricated plastic that looks like heavy, corrugated cardboard—so that nobody will be so bothered having it pull as an extension.

GIRL GUIDES TO GET ALL-BLUE NEW YORK
London (CP)—Girl guides are to have a change in uniform, one outfit being a navy skirt with light blue blouse and a navy belt. There will also be a coat which has yet to be decided.

The changeover will probably not take place for some years, until supplies are available.

This is the first real change in uniform since the Girl Guides were organized although there have been a few minor alterations.

Wife Preserves
London (CP)—A woman who has been a busy housewife, they should either have telephoned to ask her about the convenience of their coming to see her, or (if she had no telephone) invited them to visit until arrangements for a note. Unthinking people like these women should be made to realize that they are inconsiderate, their visits (if they are not invited) should be not at all self-conscious or disturbed, but "I'm just dropping in" or "I was busy preparing an early dinner."

Women Wear Hats at Personal
London
I have lived all my life in a small, informal town in the mid-West, but now, since I have married, I have come to live in a modern, smart town in New England, where the custom is to wear hats on the side of formality, although, I'm happy to say, a very friendly formality. I have just received an invitation to a luncheon to be given in my home by a woman of a good social standing in this town. Will I be expected to wear my hat during luncheon, or should I leave it with my coat wherever I am to go?

M. G.
In this kind of community women guests at a luncheon of any formal wear wear their hats. My advice is that you keep on your hat (I'm pretty sure you'll be expected to), and then if perchance the hostess should insist that you take off your hat (and I'm pretty sure she won't), make it a point to leave it with your coat.

Hat, Face and Hairdo Should

Beauty
Falls hair is terrible, only when you used it to hold a small, round hat, where it is perfectly good to look in a mirror of curls for the sake of propriety. You must not refer to those curls as being a "hairdo" or a "hairstyle" as beauty shop bosses, you must call them curls, or locks, or tresses.

That decorative curls are styled a comb is more than apparent. The beauty shop will welcome this trend with joy and thanksgiving, especially since the popularity of straight hair is giving them the shivers. What? No permanent? Of course hair will be. Undulations, rolls and ripples are too numerous to give up. After all, only the young and beautiful look handsome with hair sleeked back, smooth as silk, with one's ripple.

Old-timers in the beauty industry will tell you about the days for false hair that flourished like a given but true seventy years ago. No matter how much money given today's beauty shops, she had to do more in her style.

She combed her hair over her forehead, down the sides and back, and undressed her hair with a heavy, seven-inch, wavy comb, the purpose of which was to expand and hold up a huge pompadour. On that she placed her hair, or the helmet? The arrangement of your head would be of course, definitely and naturally, you are having most of the hair, sometimes the hair is better on one side than the other, or get a bob that will display it. If it has a graceful front hair line, it is a rule to sport but that it were off the face.

A well known milliner tells your good reporter that the selection of the right hat and the right lid depends upon a woman's face. If you have a long nose you should have a soft collar and a hat with a shadowing brim. The girl with a round face and a round nose should have a round little hat, but a soft, house-like model with a crown.

There are other rules about hats, but they don't always work. The mirror and a keen, intelligent eye will give the verdict, guided by the genius of wearing the feminine hat.

Snowbound Ont. Cities Look For Relief at Last

(By The Canadian Press)

How does a modern city exist in winter's hearted snow cut off all its arteries and exist by road and rail? These Ontario cities, Owen Sound, Guelph and Stratford, and that last experience this week, along with many smaller towns, found out the whole, they didn't do too badly.

Owen Sound reported its first trains today after being cut off for several days. While the calls for little help in the towns of this line in the snow, but this happened in many other places. The city and that morning, and the lines which were closed by the snow which covered the roads. Owen Sound reported its first trains today after being cut off for several days. look four locomotives to push a snow-plow through to Palmerston.

Some packed stations north through the highway drifts and the first arrived from Toronto and Hamilton in more than two days. There was talk of food shortages in rural districts around Guelph but no one was in actual hardship in the city or the surrounding districts. Guelph's rural roads however will be plagued for some time unless the thaw sets in properly.

Stratford, which depended on the railway perhaps more than any other city, began to feel the pinch again yesterday after the main line to Toronto was finally cleared. Plans to re-route traffic via Paris were cancelled. The local rail plows had cleared that and Stratford was again linked with the outside world.

A scarcity of all the snowbound districts was the dependence that was found to be placed on the yeast of all commodities. Yeast is essential for baking bread, and supplies of yeast were dropped at Stratford and some other centres yesterday by a Toronto wagonload of plain (Globe and Mail). The timely arrival enabled bakers to open up again, averting any bread famine.

Rev. P.F. Rockwood Resigns And Avoids 'Final Judgment' And Destruction of Sermons

True, N. S. March 8 - (CP) - The Rev. P. F. Rockwood, youthful Presbyterian minister who declared today he would resign his charge rather than destroy sermons which he had in trouble with church members, announced today he would continue his preaching and that he had a way out of the predicament he was in. He said he would continue his preaching and that he had a way out of the predicament he was in.

The congregation reported he intended to continue his preaching and that he had a way out of the predicament he was in.

At a prayer meeting at St. James Presbyterian Church here last night the 20-odd members who had been in the church for three years, including the minister, declared they would remain in the church and that they had a way out of the predicament he was in.

The minister who had preached at the church in "talk with death" was identified with his own place among that he would remain in Truro where he lives with his wife and three children.

The "ecclesiastical authority" which Presbyterian had decided on for the time being was withdrawal and destruction of the sermons which he had for sale, Mr. Rockwood said.

Potent New Germ-Killer Developed As Result of Girl's Fractured Leg

Chicago, March 8 (AP) - The medical profession has a potent new weapon for fighting a long list of infectious diseases - the result of a 7-year-old girl fractured her leg.

The new germ-killing chemical, developed after nearly four years of research, has proved effective against at least 30 organisms resistant to penicillin. It has obtained the seal for surgery in a long list of the "feverish" of infections.

The new agent was named Frey who underwent treatment in a New York hospital for compound fracture of the leg.

A germ found in the infected wound of her leg was subjected to ordinary culture mediums and found to produce a wide spectrum of anti-bacterial activity. It also was found that the subsequent crude filtrate proved effective when injected into the centre of the bone and cartilage.

The tests were conducted at the Presbyterian Hospital, New York, by Dr. Frank L. McNeary and Miss Barbara Johnson of the Columbia College of Physicians and Surgeons. Eventually they tried the drug on 16 men and women, whose cases represented the ordinary run of infections which are seen in any person's office or in a hospital. Of the 100 patients who were treated, 83 were cured of the infection and postoperative healing was speeded.

TOUGS HAUL FUEL FOR FRIGHTENED LONDON

At least 30 North American animals now in danger of extinction. This is stressed in a report just published by the Smithsonian Institution by Dr. Marjorie T. Jackson of the United States Fish and Wildlife Service.

Already, he points out, some 300,000 birds have been vanishing from the face of the earth. The big dark bird of the north, known as the Passenger Pigeon, was last seen in 1914. It was a common sight in the early days of the American west, but it has since disappeared.

About six percent of grizzly bears have perished. The American eagle, which has been exterminated by 1900. The last big Plains bison was killed in 1902. It was a common sight in the early days of the American west, but it has since disappeared.

SETS NEW RECORD

Paul Mantz, noted pilot, is shown leaving the cockpit of his P-51 Mustang fighter plane at LaGuardia Field, New York, after he had spanned the continent in six hours, seven minutes and five seconds, setting a new coast-to-coast record for conventional type planes. The record-shattering flight from the Lockheed air terminal at Burbank, Calif., clipped 24 minutes and 35 seconds off the old American mark of six hours, 38 minutes and 30 seconds set by Lieut. Jack Carter in May, 1944. Mantz used the same plane, "State of Mind," in which he won the 1948 Bendix trophy race.

Mt. Etna Starts Belching Lava, New Craters Open

Recess, March 6 (AP)—Disasters from Sicily reported today that Mt. Etna, which erupted earlier this week following an earthquake, started belching lava again last night after three heavy internal explosions that opened two new craters.

Lava streams were said to be flowing down the side of the volcano at a rate of about 500 feet a hour.

The lava was reported moving in the direction of Randazzo, northwest of the mountain, and was said to be spewing forth in a highly fluid condition, threatening a rapid spread.

Advices to Rome newspapers said the new eruption was accompanied by dense clouds of smoke which made observation difficult.

The crater from which the lava was flowing, however, appeared to be at an altitude of about 3,000 and 4,000 feet respectively.

Etna mountain is 10,000 feet high. A dipstick in the lower crater were active.

The new report described the new lava as "black" and "very sticky" without deviation and with increasing intensity.

By ALAN HARVEY (Canadian Press Staff Writer)
New York, March 6 (CIP)—Flash: Barbara Ann Scott broke training today.

The early-bird, early-riser girl finally relaxed and threw her timetable out of the window.

Instead of demurely retiring at 10 p.m., as she did with grooming for the world figure-skating championships, Miss Scott started in the Stork Club until a few minutes after midnight, dancing to the top of the charts of Raymon B. Carver.

As one of her three partners, the reporter found, was general on the dance floor as she was on skates at Coney Island Stadium in Stockholm last month.

The numbers were too fast for this Toronto-born skater, remember, but "Butterfly" was in there somewhere.

The 18-year-old Barbara Ann, found in other words, to visit the night spot, compared critical notes on the latter with Mrs. Crutcher and company.

She and her mother were tonight by train for Ottawa where they will attend a reception and possibly travel to Montreal for another "official" affair there Monday.

DEVELOPMENT UNDERKIN

Ottawa, March 6 (CIP)—The development of the underkin is being undertaken by the Canadian Institute for Advanced Study, which is indicated in the estimates table yesterday in the plant at St. John's.

The estimates show $273,000 allocated to the plant at St. John's, Ont., where exploration in the petroleum applications of atomic fission have been under way for some time.

FREE PLANS SCHOOL OF COSMIC PHYSICS

Dublin (CIP)—A school of cosmic physics will be added to the Dublin Institute for Advanced Study, and will undertake theoretical and experimental investigations of problems relative to the subject.

Prime Minister de Valera told the Dail there was no question of the school entering any cooperative work, which must be left to wealthy nations. He said he hoped to give the institute become the foremost of its kind in the world, especially in the pursuit of Celtic studies.

DREAM WAS BAD

Kelen, Wash., March 6 (AP)—Motorcycle Patrolman Marvin Bishop contrasted himself on escaping from a traffic accident without injury.

Then he went to bed and dreamed about the accident. He threw up an arm, toppled over a bedside lamp and lost a tooth when the lamp fell on him.

WARTIME PATTERNS

Toronto, March 6 (CIP)—Circusmen attending the formal opening of the Ontario Fair have announced that the fair will follow the wartime pattern. The government has decided that the fair must have "wartime" patterns, and the federal government, declared the war at an end.

Greatest Number Mining Claims Made Last Year

Toronto, March 7 (CP)—Last week's greater mining activity in Northern Ontario than any previous year, it was stated in the Speech from the Throne on the opening of the Ontario legislature yesterday by Lieutenant-Governor Ray Lawson.

Evidence of this was given in the fact that the department of Mines provided the greatest number of mining claims, a greater volume of provincial assays and a larger demand for geological maps, reports and statistics. All this has been seen at the same time a source of great encouragement as well as a heavy strain upon the department," the speech

"A minimum of 12 survey parties will be placed in the field this season, notwithstanding the dearth of qualified leaders and attendants."

The department will assist in the restoration of the mining and gold and of base metals, as well as the output of industrial minerals including clay products and building materials. Activities in the latter field are now greater than at any time in the history of Ontario mining and promise to make records during the coming year."

IN VETERANS' HOSPITALS across Canada are thousands of sick and disabled men who must still spend weeks, months or years under medical care. Were it not for the Red Cross, these men would have no place to visit with their families when they come to the hospital.

But through your generosity, Red Cross lodges have been erected, or are being built, adjacent to many veterans' hospitals. Here convalescent patients may enjoy frequent happy visits with their relatives and friends, amid cheery, home-like surroundings. These lodges also provide over-night accommodation for next-of-kin visitors, especially women and children.

Latest Blizzard Holds Britain In Icy Grip

London, March 7 — (CP)—Britain's blizzard before the thaw, a bitter postscript to three weeks of industrial paralysis caused by the electricity switch-off, held the country in an icy grip today with no immediate prospect of clearing.

The blizzard brought with it reports of chaotic transportation tie-ups; isolated villages, automobile-high snowdrifts and idle coal

HASTINGS WEST MEMORIAL SERVICE

J. Fred Wilson, M.P.R., for Hastings West, gave a speech from the throne at the opening session of the Legislature this week. Only on very rare occasions has the house of assembly heard the voice of Hastings members. The last time that the house heard the voice of Hastings was in 1908 when, W. Johnson was speaker. Hastings has been absent from the house for such a long time.

Colds frequently lead to miserable consequences. While colds are due to virus infections, the secondary invasion of bacteria which follows the initial virus infection prolongs and intensifies the symptoms. Lantigen "A" supplies antigens of these secondary bacterial invaders; and thus helps to relieve present discomfort and build up resistance against further attacks.

Where you can't just "PHONE THE DOCTOR!"

The day of the struggling pioneer is not past. Today, in many rural districts of Canada, families are struggling against odds to open up new territories and to make a living. Isolated by distance and meagre transportation, these families live in loneliness and isolation. When accident or sickness strikes, the nearest doctor may be more than 100 miles away.

In such remote regions, the Canadian Red Cross operates Outpost Hospitals and Nursing Stations. Many dramatic stories could be written of the mercy services rendered by these hospitals and by the valiant Red Cross Outpost Nurses. Space permits only the citing of a few figures.

ONE YEAR'S RECORD

In 54 Red Cross Outpost Hospitals

40,000 (approx.) patients were treated

2,000 babies were born

5,000 operations were performed

550 infants were held

and some 17,000 children examined

To continue and further this great work the Red Cross urgently needs money. Every dollar you can give will represent you and your share in these many "good deeds."

WOMAN DOCTOR CANNOT FORGET GERMAN INFANTRY

Remonster, (CP)—Dr. Thers Klowna will never forget her experiences as a prisoner of war in German concentration camps during the Second World War, for as proud of them as her is a beloved number on her arm.

She is a Czech, a medical graduate of Prague University. She was sent to concentration camps on a mission to study the health and hygienic conditions of Czechoslovakians in this country.

Before the war, Dr. Klowna was studying medicine in her homeland. When Hitler occupied it in 1939 she was forced to move to Paris, where she helped the Maquis movement. In 1943 she was arrested by a Gestapo agent and sent later to Auschwitz camp, one of the most infamous of the extermination camps, where many prisoners were sent to gas chambers on arrival.

Medical personnel were detailed to the camp laboratories. Dr. Klowna was placed in Block No. 10, where she said the doctors experimented on women.

"All the experiments were terrible," she said bitterly. After their completion the women were sent either to gas chambers or to the ordinary working camp. Dr. Klowna was not compelled to watch the experiments, but she had to care for the patients afterwards.

One of the camp officials was a Professor Schumann, an SS lieutenant. He performed sterilization experiments.

Byron Bell

"People like myself could hardly believe what was done to the women, as we haven't the ideas and it is hard for us to understand," said Dr. Klowna in naming English.

Bruno Weber, another prisoner held by Dr. Klowna, worked with human blood, drawing whatever he needed from the patients who were sick and sick women. The weakest patients were sent to gas chambers, together with all children and pregnant women.

In January, 1945, the prisoners were forced to walk 15 miles to Ravensbrück camp, two-thirds of them. Dr. Klowna was freed from hunger or thirst in the road. From Ravensbrück the captives were once again transferred to Neuengamme concentration camp. The American and Russian liberated Dr. Klowna from this camp.

It was after her liberation that she learned her brother had been imprisoned in the camp at Auschwitz. All her family, she said, were killed in concentration camps.

Dr. Klowna came to Edmonton to visit relatives here. Dr. and Mrs. I. Garbis and their family. Klowna is her last stop before returning to Paris, to addition to a little English, she speaks French, German, Polish, Czechoslovakian, Spanish and Esperanto.

one still below $100,000. The Dominion added three cents a gallon to the eight-cent provincial gasoline tax as well, but will also add this at the end of March. The Throne Speech brought speculation that Ontario might take up to five per cent of Federal budget. Under this provision if a provincial income tax were imposed, it would be deducted by the taxpayer from its own income tax. The Ontario taxpayer would pay a higher income tax but accept the program plan.

The Dominion proposes to replace the wartime agreement which Ontario did not accept, called for surrender of personal, corporate and estate taxes to the federal government in return for a guaranteed minimum annual salary of $77,135.00 with higher payments determined by the province's contribution to the gross national product in a given year. The subsidy this year for Ontario would have worked out to $7,969,000.

A Queen's Park source said the problem facing the provincial government was how to raise some $74,000,000 in this year's revenue.

One high government source told the Canadian Press that the fact Ontario now would have to pay a higher income tax but accept the program plan.

greatly discouraged by taxation. No Reduction in Gas. This gives rise to reports that the government will seek to raise revenue by taxation of sales, income, luxuries, entertainment and the like. Other sources believe that gasoline tax will remain at 11 cents a gallon, giving the province the extra three cents when the Federal government drops that tax, and that an added tax will be put on the motor vehicle.

The most Ontario ever collected from its own income tax was about $7,000,000 for any one year. The peak corporate tax revenue year was 1942 when Ontario received about $22,000,000 was collected. Succession duties averaged about $12,000,000 annually from 1937 to 1943. These added together amount to a little more than half of what Ontario would get under the recent federal offer.

Where the rest is to come from remains the big question—a question asked both by speculators and taxpayers.

Looking Ahead in Ottawa

(By the Ottawa Staff at The Canadian Press) Ottawa, March 10 (CP)—The government is expected to announce shortly its solution to the problem of supply of artificial fertilizers. Although two million tons of supply are available in Canada on official balances, the government is expected to announce that the ministry will seek to increase production of fertilizer one of the most important ingredients that go into the feeding of livestock.

The problem has been made more acute by the fact that the United States is expected to announce that the ministry will seek to increase production of fertilizer one of the most important ingredients that go into the feeding of livestock.

There are two courses open to the government. It can pay the farmers to produce more fertilizer, or it can increase the price of fertilizer. The latter course would result in increased production.

The shortage of this important food is traced directly to the fact that the United States is expected to announce that the ministry will seek to increase production of fertilizer one of the most important ingredients that go into the feeding of livestock.

Two plans currently are under consideration. The first is to increase the price of fertilizer, which would result in increased production. The second is to pay the farmers to produce more fertilizer, which would result in increased production.

At present, there is no indication of when the government will announce its solution to the problem of supply of artificial fertilizers.

derable interest in enemy quarters if they were allowed to become aware of the operations. The utmost discretion had to be observed to keep the secret. Finally, it was agreed that, as the dividing often was without notice, the extraction was to be done quite openly under the guise of road repairs.

The tunnel-boring was well timed as an open rift in the edge of the road, and, to all intents and purposes, it was as if it were a part of the road drainage scheme. The work was followed under cover of a tunnel, which was timbered with heavy beams and was filled in with gravel when the work was completed. All round the open cut, red flags, warning signs and lanterns, lanterns and lights were placed and the superintending of the work was a main-road construction. Travelled along the road, there was no more interest than to grumble at the length of time that was being taken over the repairs.

Over 3,000 pounds of high-grade metal was taken from the tunnel, and the ore was flown to the Eastern States by United States bombers and thence by Air to America for final treatment.

Grapple With Problems

The people of Britain have been carrying unpreceded burdens and facing important problems in connection with the Second World War and upon these have been imposed the losses and hardships which the worst winter weather in several generations has created.

Two news stories, published on Wednesday pointedly indicate the situation. The one deals with the depleted condition of Britain's forests, the result of her sacrifices for freedom and the welfare of democracy in the world war. The second story, in these struggles for the maintenance of freedom was Britain and upon her the heaviest burden fell. So important is the problem of forest supply that the United Kingdom has adopted a fifty-year plan of forestation which is so essential to the welfare of nations.

One hundred million trees were cut down in Britain during 1932-33. It is impossible to conceive what this means to that country and what a drain it has placed upon her recuperative power.

But the British people bravely grapple themselves to the task of a vast scheme for the improvement of the forests of Britain. It will take time, but the Briton knows the value of time as history shows and has already made preparations to meet this great need.

The other story concerns the havoc and loss during the severe and wintering of the Western front. It is a conception of the loss of so great a share of her livestock as has been reported in sheep. Some estimates place the loss at more than three million on the basis of a newspaper opinion, that a third of the population of the British Isles are sheep and cows and calves. If such figures prove correct the pluck of the flocks will be very small. There can be no hope that the loss will not prove so great.

Britons fought the Nazis from the start of the war to the present. They have stood stoutly against her domination and Colonies against the swollen might of Hitlerite aggression. Yet in these days, now written large in history, guaranteed the security of the world and the chance to live in peace, the nations to assure that there may be no more aggression.

As they are wrestling with problems which came out of the war with confident hope. They have been through trials enough to break an ordinary people but these trials have not broken British spirit and will not be able to crush this great race which has borne heavy tasks through centuries and proved that the heart of the Briton is the heart that accepts the hard, heroically and sets to work to restore the balance. The administration of the war has inspired mankind with the confident knowledge that Britain has faced in the past, the night of the coming morning could not be against her and has always come through. She has the good will of the world nations which realize that the war has been a struggle for the past and present and that her influence will continue to be felt down the coming generations.

Romance of Tantalum

The South-Western Highway in Western Australia passes over a culvert, just outside the township of Greenbushes, that crosses no different from the hundreds of others which drain the road, but little more than four years ago it was playing a significant part in the war against the Axis.

As far back as 1893, men knew that tunnel-boring was the only way to get into the neighborhood of Greenbushes, but it was not until 1943 that they exploited the area extensively. Before 1939, the tunnels, silver white and extremely hard metallic, chemical element, tantalum, had been used greatly in the field of electrical engineering. In World War II, the spectacular value arose out of its still secret use in radar equipment, and the urgent need for this rare metal was prompted activity in the Greenbushes field.

In 1943, tantalum-bearing ore was found on a mineral claim in the township of Greenbushes, the South-Western Highway and it was decided to work the field. At that stage of the war, the commencement of such operations would have created con-

The People of India

One out of every five persons in the world is an Indian. India's total population, now between 400 million and 450 million, of 1,576,000 square miles, says British Information Service.

Nearly one-fourth of the total Indian population are not British subjects, but British protected persons. These 93,189,000 Indians in the Indian states owe allegiance to their own rulers.

The 295,809,000 Indians living in the seven provinces of British India are British subjects. In British subjects, the resident in Britain have always been entitled to full citizenship rights on the same basis as the British people.

There are only fifty-eight cities with a population of more than 100,000 in all of India.

Eighty-five per cent of the population lives in rural communities as compared with 48.8 per cent in the U. S. A.

Sixty-six per cent of the population are Hindus, twenty-four per cent Moslems; though in four of the seven provinces of British India the Moslems are in the majority. The remaining 10 per cent belong to a wide variety of races and creeds.

There are about 150 different languages — as many as the main languages of Europe — each spoken by a million or more people in India. The most widely spoken is the medium of communication among educated Indians is English.

There are 562 Indian states ranging from Hyderabad with a population of over 16,000,000, to minute states no larger than a plantation. The Indian states cover nearly one half of the total area of India.

JUST FOLKS

Editor of THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER, (Editorial, 1917, Editor's Guest)

When in hospital you're landed as you will live is through. You will wear a common nightgown when the nurse will bring to you. It is the same old story, although it is not you can afford; it is one that all are wearing, be it private room or ward.

And, until you have recovered, as a patient you'll be treated. For the nurse and the doctor think that is common ground to best.

It's a loose, ill-fitting garment that with bits of tape is tied — Quickly changed when change is needed, and it isn't worn for pride. But if you find the nurse wanders, as you will before you go. You will find that rich or poor man who has been in the hospital.

And in chatting with some fellow who has had the same disease, You'll find that rich or poor man who has been in the hospital.

In good health, be honest possessions and our duties to the world. But in pain we all are fellows when our symptoms are the same. And to prove we all are brothers, workman or millionaire, Of common, handy nightgown every one of us wears.

Legendary Figure Borne in Sleigh To Final Rest

Kirkland Lake, Ont., March 10 (CP) — A horse-drawn sleigh Wednesday carried the body of Mrs. Rosa Brown over the northern snows to her final resting place in the little Jewish cemetery at Krukenberg, 30 miles east of here. The long entourage of hearse-drawn cars and a long line of 40-year-old women in a legendary figure of the gold ball, were mingled as her casket passed through the black, snow-covered woods along the route to pay last respect to the former underwearman who helped make the late Sir Harry Oakes to a fabulous fortune in gold.

The old woman, who had an obsession for royalty, died in hospital last Sunday following a heart attack. Rabbi E. Rabinovitch officiated at a funeral service Wednesday at the synagogue here. Rosa was buried much as she had lived, surrounded by color. There were banks of beautiful flowers but the expensive fur coat the wealthy old woman wore along with its knee-high rubbers, her tall laces of old-time topcoats, and the Union Jack larger than herself which she displayed at every opportunity, will always be missed in the gold ball.

1947 Immigration
Canada received in 1947 no fewer than 71,719 newcomers of whom 51,408 were from the United Kingdom. About fifty thousand of the new arrivals were men, women and children of Canadian newsmen. From the United States came a considerable number, 6,177 returning Canadians among them. From Michigan came 2,333 of the new arrivals, from Massachusetts 1,134, from New York State about 1,700. The Province of Ontario received about half of the newcomers. This is a good record for the Province of Ontario.

There is discussion of filling up some of the great space in lands like Canada and other parts of the British Commonwealth. It will be some time before immigration of magnitude will start moving to the various parts of the world which seek new people and which are short of labour. One of the returning influences is the need in some lands of help at home to carry on the work of rebuilding these countries out of the havoc of war.

London Free Press referring to importance of immigration speaks of "the value of an increased population in creating a larger domestic market, in building up a larger industrial force for export, and in creating a larger market for which to draw in times of emergency."

More Sugar
Sugar as an element of improvement in world conditions is the barometer. The rate of increase of the ration and guessing at the time when sugar will be bought without coupons to permit purchase. Great moment in the lives of housewives who have learned all about the effects of sugar supplies and the difference between those to which people had been accustomed.

World situation in respect to this commodity has improved this year though the supplies are yet below current requirements.

There is an increase of rationals is welcomed across the Dominion by the individual consumer, by the industrial users, by the hotel and restaurant, by the restaurant, hotels and institutions.

There is a hope that canning rationals will be increased by two or more coupons during the year.

Canadians have fared well in regard to food during the war. They have not borne very heavily upon the people. It has meant of course some changes on the dietary and eating customs. The people have taken all in they have not felt a pinch of food shortage.

Every buyer of foods knows there is a steady increase in the number of articles which have been in short supply, showing the situation is improving and the stocks gaining.

Sap's Running
Mid days and nights cool enough to suit the alchemy of nature have ushered in the sap running and the spring equinox. Maple juice begins rendering its annual tribute in sweet products of sugar and syrup for the pleasure of man.

The first of the new year has come, the first fruit of growing life after the long winter of nature. Once again the maple has begun to produce harvest upon harvest for the feeding of man. Other harvests come later after the first of the year in buds and flowers and after the birds come to join as assistants of nature in bringing about the growth of crops of flowers, vegetables and fruits. Crops that follow the sap harvest come after the full force of life's chemistry has been at work for weeks and months. Such harvests grow under spring, summer and winter conditions.

Springtime is only a week away and life's magic is now actively preparing itself for the coming of the new year. The human heart. This interim comes just before the burgeoning of life with its power and freedom. It comes before the birds fly away in late summer and autumn come back to "take the winds of March with heavy." It begins before the snows and heavy mists and before the spring equinox. It forecasts all the mighty workings of natural forces while yet winter lingers slowly disappearing in streams of flowing water.

These days before spring are potent with suggestion for human beings as they are for the whole life of nature. They are through the disappearing piles of snow to the coming flowers and the forth of the robin's coming with unfailing regularity to bird instinct. Above the trumpet of spring will sound. What there is now is preparation for the removal of the fetters on the wings of growth and vitality in nature. Spring is forever new. One of its true harvests is the maple harvest.

No 'Career' Woman

It is refreshing to learn that Canada's latest woman of renown—charming and comely Barbara Ann Scott—has set her face against the idea of a career. The young ice champion announced publicly that while skating is her number one sport, and skating is the essential of enjoyment of this sport, she has not the slightest intention of missing all the fun of being young, and attractive and thoroughly in love with living. She likes dance, parties, and now and then a Walter Pidgeon movie, and intends to go on liking them. At the shining age of eighteen a girl should be free, gay, and ingenuous; too often these days they have by this nature age become sophisticated and spoiled. —London Free Press.

The 'Weaker Sex' And Business

Union Carbide and Carbon Corporation is one of the really great business organizations on this continent. Well, a recent statement of Union Carbide and Carbon shows that of its shareholders 21,628 are women. 25,535 men, with the women holding 10,000 more shares. "We imagine that the bulk of holdings of other big business concerns would tell the same thing. We would speak of women as the 'weaker sex,' and sometimes we are tempted to say that they are not capable of 'handling business.' Clearly that notion, like a lot of others we used to have, is wrong. That everybody said and nobody investigated—belongs to the dim past." —Ottawa Journal.

Potash

The rich deposit of potash found in Saskatchewan last July, considered likely to make this Dominion independent of the outside world for its supply of an all-important fertilizer, is not to be left to private enterprise to exploit. It is to be publicly owned.

The Saskatchewan Government, according to the Minister of Natural Resources, Mr. J. L. Plueph, who regards potash as the most valuable mineral in the province, as uranium will itself underdevelopment of the new field. First, additional wells will be sunk to a depth of 1,000 feet, built at a total cost of $4,000,000. Thereafter production should be such that it will provide for the Dominion's needs, with little recourse to imports from abroad.

How valuable economical exploitation of these deposits can become is seen by the fact that imports of fertilizer already cost the Canada nearly $4,000,000 a year. In Saskatchewan nearly many farmers have to pay $75 a ton for it delivered to the farm. —CP.

Clocks

I read somewhere lately that 27,000 public clocks in this country were put out of order in the last year. The statement, says a writer in The London New Statesman. It seems to me that this figure must include practically all those that catch my eye—they are nearly always wrong. The horological societies have wanted for a long time to see that they are put out of order. It is not right by official time, but at present a public clock will give what time it likes; and most of them do.

Cruelly and fear shaker's hands together. —Balsac.

Life

There is no doubt of this: Life has its ups and downs, life made and shods that miss, A few more minutes than it takes.

The Why of It

Those that the lovely women were are made to show their wealth of hair, That delirious and delirious life, Surely, to hide men's lack of it.

Question

If Russia is a garden spot, Where all are happy with their lot, How patient is the tender nurse, How might I take of you rebars, I'm sure the while I groan and sigh, She's more the patient than me I.

British Eyes Wagering For Needed Funds

London (Reuters)—Russia's Nikolai Lenin once remarked that instead of being a revolution in Britain as long as the working man had his beer and his racing guide.

The beer, whisky now but gambling still is Britain's biggest business and the government, despite Lenin's advice, is known to be studying the possibility of deriving revenue from the estimated £500,000,000 of annual betting turnover.

Up to now bookmaking has been a licensed business. From large bookmaking firms doing a licensed business £250,000,000 annually is handled by bookies on street corners who accept stalling bets as readily as pound notes.

These "two-bit" bookies have been a factor in British social life for decades and many feel they would destroy many of their efforts to cut in on their take.

These smaller bookies operate as agents for the legal "credit bookmakers" who work within the law and make their largest profits from the illegal cash bets of small betters. The street-corner business is well-known to book.

Popular Classic

Betting on horse racing reaches its peak with the running of the Grand National Classic in March, an event which to some extent focuses nearly every man, woman and child in Britain.

Football pools—participated in by one of three British adults who each week place a "two-bit" bet in hope of winning prizes ranging from 15 shillings ($3) to £40,000—account for a turnover of another £300,000,000 a year. All the spectators have to do and is legal is fill out a form forecasting the results of 14 major league football matches in combinations ranging from three to 14 results.

Another £300,000,000 annually is wagered in pari-mutuel betting at greyhound tracks and this may be the last major target of the Hugh Dalton, chancellor of the exchequer, since the last section of the country and would be too restrictive on an individual bettor or bookmaker.

Passengers, Crew 'Apparently Dead' In Plane Crash

No Signs of Life Seen About Wreckage in Alps

Paris, March 13 (CP)—All 18 passengers and five crew members of a Swiss Douglas DC-3 plane crashed in the Alps near the village of Gredos, 30 miles south of Grenoble were "apparently dead" when the wreckage was found by the search party which began today.

But for a last-minute rescue attempt by American pilot Robert Taylor and his wife Barbara, the plane would have been on the ground long before the crash today.

One of the engines seemed to have stalled, and the plane was forced to land on a steep slope. The wreckage was found by a search party which began today.

Company officials said the four passengers were American and two were Dutch and two Swiss.

(Chairman From Bank Workers)

Ottawa, March 15 (CP)—Among many other things, parliament is an assembly of the people with a language all its own, divided into chambers which at one time or another call one another the "House of Commons" or the "House of Lords."

Each chamber has a chairman who is elected by the members and is called the speaker. The speaker is the most important figure in the chamber. He is the one who presides over the proceedings and is the one who keeps the members in order.

At the close of the session, the speaker is elected for the next session. He is the one who presides over the proceedings and is the one who keeps the members in order.

Paestine Govt. Lifts Martial Law After Fleeing Jews Jerusalem's Jews Welcome End in Holiday Spirit

By JOSEPH C. GOODWIN
Jerusalem, March 17 (AP)—The Palestine Government lifted martial law today after 15 days of Jewish resistance to British military rule. The British government, which had been in the city since the Jews fled in 1948, welcomed the end of martial law. Some 23,000 of Jerusalem's Jews welcomed the end of martial law with a holiday spirit.

The martial law had cost some 20,000 Jews from the rest of Palestine. The government had claimed some success in the hunt for armed Jewish opponents of British mandate policies, but the Jews had refused to surrender. Thousands of relatives and friends of the Jews who had been arrested in Jerusalem jammed the streets leading to the home of the Jewish community.

Shortly before martial law was lifted, a Jerusalem military court sentenced a Jewish man to 15 years in prison for carrying a gun. The man, 31-year-old Yehuda, was arrested March 9 near the Jerusalem military court.

Baroness told the court that "the father of the Jewish people" had been arrested March 9 near the Jerusalem military court.

Ten Lives Lost During Weekend In Two Provinces

(By The Canadian Press)

Two persons in Ontario and Quebec lost their lives as the result of accidents during the weekend, a Canadian press survey of Eastern Canadian fatalities disclosed today.

Quebec's two Saturday fatalities were caused by railway cars. Thirteenth-year-old Les Groulx died on arrival in Montreal from St. Thomas on the train line which he was driving a blinding snowstorm. Both of the last two fatalities in the accident were hospitalized near her home. Leonard Bernier, 34, a locomotive fireman in Montreal, was killed when the ad train on which he was riding was derailed and the engine rolled over.

Ontario's three Saturday fatalities were caused by traffic and fire. In Toronto, Lawrence Miller, 42, was killed when struck by a street car in the city's east end, and C. J. Schneider, 30-year-old telephone traffic expert, died of burns suffered in a fire in his hotel room. Believed to have started from a cigarette in the hotel, Miller was killed when he died from his clothing catching on fire.

Then the kind of last fatal accident in Cooper's Fall.

There were five deaths from accidents in Ontario during the week. In St. Thomas, a 25-year-old farm worker, died in a St. Thomas hospital from injuries received when he was hit by a car on the city street.

Camron Scott, 24, of Kingston, died in a Windsor hospital after a fall down the stairs of a hotel in his home town.

At Woodville, near Windsor, Leonard Little, 31, was accidentally shot and killed when a shotgun discharged.

At Cornwall, Lorne Miller, 39, drowned when he fell through thin ice on a creek near his home.

At Hamilton, 31, died in hospital at Sudbury from the effects of a wound police said was self-inflicted.

Congregation Will Decide Status Of Pastor at Meeting

Windsor, March 11 (CP)—The congregation of Augustine United Methodist Church will decide tonight whether Rev. Russell McGillivray will continue the pastorate at this church, in view of his charges against members of the church, a change in the church's constitution.

The action was brought into last night's church service when Mr. McGillivray, in his capacity of pastor, announced that in the session were members who were guilty of "petty criticism, opposition and disunity."

During his sermon at the Augustine church, he said he had received a pleasant surprise when he asked the congregation to elect a pastor today after to confirm him in his ministry as he had to leave.

Last week 18 members of the church had voted for McGillivray's charges in a circular letter to the church members. They claimed that unless they had leadership, enthusiasm and method of approach were not in a class of a typical congregation.

A number of the "deep-seated resentments and unwhispered charges" were also mentioned in a session meeting being called in the letter said, and the meeting "it was found that a large majority of those present were of the opinion that a change of ministry would be desirable."

The letter added that when a pastor is elected, the congregation should be interviewed the minister concerning the matter and an audience was refused. Mr. McGillivray last night described this statement as unfair, saying in no language that he had told the delegation "they could see me next Thursday, the day after the congregational meeting which will decide whether or not I remain as pastor."

Mr. Joseph said "I know Sullivan's philosophy and the spirit of the statement is not his." He added however that he was not suggesting that the statement had not been approved by Sullivan.

These were other comments: C. B. Millard, Canadian director of the United States Workers of the C. I. O., said "Sullivan's resignation and election of a new Communist director is proof that Labor can clean its own house without any outside help from those who need to clean it."

It is no secret that the C. I. O. party attempts to dominate industry, but it is also true that they have met with very little success.

George Burr, Canadian director of the United Automobile Workers (C. I. O.), said "The Sullivan charges do not apply to the C. I. O. 'Our Union will resist the control or domination by any party, whether it be Labor-Progressive, C. I. O., Liberal, or any other party."

"If what Sullivan says is true it seems to me there is something more behind this than appears on the surface now. Anybody who has sincerely devoted himself to the cause of labor for many years at considerable suffering and sacrifice just doesn't renounce the movement and disperse."

SULLIVAN'S BREAK

J. W. Frosh, president of the London Labour Council (C. I. O.), said Sullivan's move was "a great step towards the unity of organized labor." Oliver Hodgson, London representative of the C. I. O. C. C. F. labor committee, said "Sullivan's decision to make public his break with the Communist party is all to the good of the trade union movement."

Another group was bitter in condemnation of Sullivan. It included J. B. Balguy, labor secretary of the Labor-Progressive party and member of the Ontario legislature, who said Sullivan "has betrayed the trade union movement."

movement in the face of mounting disaffection with his leadership as a labor leader."

Sullivan's statement at Toronto Sunday said that "I had arranged to see him last Saturday to inform him that because he had not changed, we would discontinue ourselves from him. Sending him outside the ranks of labor's trade unionism."

The L.P.P. always tries to unite strength and build trade unions on the basis of inner democracy. We helped to organize the C.S.U. and borrowed money to help their efforts."

A. A. MacLeod, another Labor-Progressive member of the Ontario Legislature, said at Toronto Sunday that he thought the statement issued by Sullivan and by Igor Gouzenko, the Russian, embassy cipher clerk who was a leading Communist witness in the espionage trial, were written by the same man, and he suggested the father was Sgt. John Leopold of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, long reported one of the R.C.M.P.'s best men.

Sullivan said Sullivan was not the sole author of the 2,000 word statement issued over Sullivan's name at Ottawa Sunday. He was also by Percy Brown, president of the Trades and Labor Congress.

Mr. Joseph said "I know Sullivan's philosophy and the spirit of the statement is not his." He added however that he was not suggesting that the statement had not been approved by Sullivan.

These were other comments: C. B. Millard, Canadian director of the United States Workers of the C. I. O., said "Sullivan's resignation and election of a new Communist director is proof that Labor can clean its own house without any outside help from those who need to clean it."

It is no secret that the C. I. O. party attempts to dominate industry, but it is also true that they have met with very little success.

By SAM GORDON
The Kicker

Most a brilliant bridge play is lost in the shuffle. Impatient to start a new deal, we frequently let a clever accomplishment go unrecorded. Many a good play is lost that way.

Excellent handling of standard plays will make the toughest of contracts, but what of unworkable deals that are pulled off by the wit without loss of "psychological features"? The use of such a contract must have something extra. It must be something in addition to standard play. In this it is the kind of genius that transcends usual procedure.

Such a player was the declarer in north at six spades in this deal:

West East
♠ 4 ♠ 10 10 9 8
♥ 4 ♥ 10 10 9 8
♦ 4 ♦ 10 10 9 8
♣ 4 ♣ 10 10 9 8

West took a club trick and led another club and went into action. The declarer was a little puzzled, mapped out from the moment the hand was given.

It looks as if a diamond must be the hand play will save it. Something must be added to the declarer's repertoire. In this case it was the psychology aspect.

West was to develop a diamond sequence. Could be if the declarer had become good. So, an opponent must be "shaken" by throwing away one of his four hearts.

West's declarer substantially paid five rounds of hearts. The trump he had left. It looks foolish from here.

It looks like losing hearts, they had been ruffed. But dummy trumps are drawn. Leading heart is pulled into feeling that he need not save hearts.

Injuries Worry N.H.L. Leaders With Playoffs for Stanley Cup Only a Week Away

Canadians Will Meet Boston in Montreal Starting on March 25

By JACK MITCHELL
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

With the Stanley Cup playoff race in full swing, the two top teams of the National Hockey League (N.H.L.) are worried about the possibility of injuries that could keep key players out of the playoffs. The injury bug has been a big factor in the hopes of both Montreal Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs, who clinched the top positions last weekend.

For the Canadiens, League

champs for the fourth straight year, the injury bug has been a problem as well. The Canadiens' main problem was the loss of their star forward, Jean Beliveau, who was injured in a game against the Boston Bruins. Beliveau's injury was a serious blow to the Canadiens, as he is their top scorer and a key player in their offense. The Canadiens' coach, Claude Jodan, said that Beliveau's injury was a "setback" but that the team would be able to cope without him.

By JACK MITCHELL
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Johnny Rizzo, who was defeated by Zedek in the main event of the Atlantic City fight card, was declared the winner by a majority vote of 1,000 fans. The fans' decision was a surprise, as the judges had scored the fight in favor of Zedek. Rizzo's manager, Billy Goheen, said that he was "pleased" with the fans' decision and that Rizzo would be looking for a rematch with Zedek.

Women's Police Force

An important factor in the widespread network of social welfare work in Britain today is the Women's Police Force. This is a force with so many other forces in Britain; the Women's Police Force originated in an unofficial and voluntary effort. They sprang into existence to protect and discipline among children and adolescents, and trained to deal with each problem in the light of individual circumstances, and to use their personal discretion as much as their official power. This discretion can be particularly valuable in dealing with children and adolescents. It has been found that both child and adolescent delinquents respond far more readily to handling by women police than by men, particularly in the case of young girls. Frequently, a policeman will get in touch with a girl's parents, and often does much to re-establish in a happy and satisfactory home life, a girl who may have been adrift in bad company.

Reforestation

One of the great sources of the wealth of nations is that of their forests. Of this nations are very much aware. The heavy inroads upon the woodlands of the leading countries in last week the heaviest loss to the world's attention the need of reforestation. Only last week the newspapers carried an announcement of Britain's great plan extending over half a century and aiming at the creation of five million acres of productive forests. This is a giant task but even then it will take care of only one-third of the current requirements of Britain, the report said.

Canada, United States, Scandinavia and Russia are countries of heavy forest cover. Britain has fought heavily in Canada and Sweden but even with that her housing plans have been held up by scarcity of forest products.

In the United States and Canada reforestation is occupying no little attention because of the world-wide demand for forest products. Everywhere it is realized that timber is a crop and the forests must be on a sustained basis.

Hastings County like others is very active in the matter relating to reforestation. They know what they are doing in recent years. Again this year various organizations have prepared for the annual planting of trees. It is a very good sign for the county that the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Collegiate students in agriculture, members of the Fish and Game Association, county council members and others will take place in these plantings.

Twenty thousand red pines to be set out on the Humberston project and twenty thousand will be planted in the Beckett area.

General interest in this branch of the Ontario Conservation and Reforestation Association has been growing steadily. The importance of this work cannot be overestimated for it is a work which is steadily increasing and those who lend their efforts to this task are doing a national service that cannot be overestimated.

The value lies in the future need of these resources and in the fact that forest wealth must be grown and may be looked upon as a crop or harvest so controlled that the needs of future generations will be assured.

Coming of Spring

Winter will end and spring begin at 6:13 on Friday morning, whether conditions be mild or blustery. It is the time of the equinox and spring is written in the solar system, the source of this world's light and life, and all light has meant since our world began.

Spring's approach has up to the present time has been moderately mild, temperature by day just under freezing for some days and nights even below zero. There have been no storms, only snowdrifts, though the weeks before brought heavy snow. There will be a few days of the first day of spring, remain then through March may prove its ability in passing out as a lion or in initiating the playful skipping spring lamb.

This district has seen nature in her kind mood for some time. The snow has melted and the birds have returned. The snow has melted and the birds have returned. The snow has melted and the birds have returned.

At yet only the winter birds in general are here but the coming of spring heralds the arrival of the migrating birds to protect the life of reviving life and the appearance of the first flowers of the season. The season draws near, so beautifully described by Tennyson.

Once more the Heavenly Power
 Makes all things new I've tried
 And does the red-poll's power
 With living blue.

The blackbirds have their will
 The throats too.

Square Milk Bottles
 Square milk bottles will soon come into general use, a daily official practice. There is a reason for this. The square bottle would be, by all odds, the most convenient. It would be saving of space in refrigerators, which are now recognized as normally being used for long in something of a mystery. The main reason probably is that they are supposed to be more sanitary, because they have fewer corners that defy cleaning. Modern sterilization methods, however, require that the milk be kept in a clean container. Convenience will, sooner or later, come to be the sole consideration, says Windsor Star.

HELL STAMP
 (Brands' Expectorant)
 The Ottawa Journal points to the Bell centennial postage issue as "this big, beautiful stamp in light blue which commemorates the famous Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone."

Experts say the Bell stamp is among the Dominion's finest, and it needs no practiced eye to see that. The point is that, by being adjudged one of Canada's best, the Bell stamp will be in the line of the Brantford, the Telephone City, had, of course, the added distinction of being the first place in which this stamp was issued, and the local post office staff had to do in sending first day covers to people all over the continent, and in many parts of the world. The stamp, it is said, "publicity value" of the stamp as far as this community is concerned.

CRIME PAYS OFF
 (Vancouver Province)
 Recently crime declared a dividend for its Vancouver shareholders.

For their part in crime's local enterprises 17 young men were rewarded with a total of $6000 imprisonment. Another faces the death penalty and another life imprisonment.

In an age where youngsters are inclined to sneer at the old sage, "crime doesn't pay" is a lesson that the law has learned. In the next five years of their lives in prison.

Never Lose Heart
 Always some means to arise to lead at Britain's most grave crimes. Moreover, the British people themselves slowly realize that their prestige and capabilities are at stake.

When the British people themselves slowly realize that their prestige and capabilities are at stake, they will find a way to overcome their difficulties.

 JACK POT
 He hit the jack pot! In a flash, in nickels, fawns a lot of cash.

The little metal casket filled: Sounded the floor the surplus spilled. On hands and knees crawled about, To search the final nickel out.

He lifted ladder's foot to see If underneath a coin could be, And got from them some toy stars. Sounded the tables and the chairs, He sprawled and squirmed till he'd regained All that the jack pot had contained.

"This is my lucky day!" he cried, "I've tried and I've tried, I've tried and I've tried, Then, with the nickels in a stack, He stood right there and played them back. And with them, seven dollars more, He left him, all poorer than before."

Canada's Generous Hand

Canada has reason to be proud of her efforts to aid in relieving the suffering of peoples in other lands. Dr. George F. Lawson, Canadian Deputy Welfare Minister, stated the other day that the Dominion is still making by voluntary relief methods $1,000,000 a month. Her voluntary donations to world relief and U.N.R.R.A. made a grand total of more than $30,000,000 during the six years of war.

Health of Statesmen

Revin, Morrison, Cripps, Alexander and Dalton have been in office, apart from a few weeks of the Chamberlain Government, since 1940. Ernest Revin has heart trouble, which is both serious and extremely painful. Herbert Morrison, who has been very much ill during the last few weeks, is down with long periods, for which the only cure is a long period of complete rest. Sir Cripps and Alexander have both been ill recently.

"There is a real danger of literally running the country to the hilt," says a friend among those who are suggesting that the day of this country is over. Some of them thought so in the war, but they changed their minds. The British leader spoke of "self-discipline and the team spirit" as the way by which Britain will solve her economic crisis and "move on to better times for all."

Mr. Attlee pointed to recent history, as proof of the British people's ability to do this. He said that the British people have shown that they are capable of doing this. He said that the British people have shown that they are capable of doing this.

The spirit of the British people was the great strength of the success against the Axis. The world has seen in the last few years and the British success of those trying days of 1940, when the world looked to Britain and was not disappointed.

Telephone Miracles

Observance of the 10th anniversary of Alexander Graham Bell's invention of the telephone has meant as a convenience and as an aid.

The things-to-be department accepts the probability of telephone service to the caller, and permits the subscriber to see the caller, and permits the subscriber to select her children.

In the face of the wonders already achieved by the telephone, it is not surprising that the telephone has become a part of our lives.

Neckties

More men are wearing plain knit ties. We learn from a press report. This brings up the question, why wear ties at all? One of the most foolish things is that of men who bind their necks almost to the strangling point with various kinds of fabrics. Some of the gaudy ties that one sees are almost as ridiculous as the men's hats that strike your eyes in the Easter parade. Men who laugh at the neckties they wear are almost as ridiculous as the men's hats that strike your eyes in the Easter parade.

Should Be Good Attendance

This story is not guaranteed to be about President Lincoln or President Roosevelt, but it seems an appropriate time of the year to tell it.

A gushing Washington lady met a rector on the street one day and asked, "Tell me, do you expect the President to be in church on Sunday?"

"That," said the rector, "I cannot promise. But I expect God to be there, and I fancy that will be incentive enough for a reasonably large attendance."

Waves of the Future

As an example of the public service rendered by newspapers, the P. O. R. reporter secured the confession of a suspect 24 hours before the man admitted the crime to the authorities.

HAT SEARCH

Long years ago my mother said:
"If it were none, you'd lose your head!"
An ancient statement meaning that Once more I couldn't find my hat.

"You're such a careless boy," she sighed.
The while we searched it far and wide:
"Just hand me down your hat, my son!"
And save the time you waste to look."

Years after, oh my Yells said:
"If it were none, you'd lose your head!"
For forty years, to put it flat,
I've heard you shouting: "Where's my hat?"

Now round the place I go alone
Forgetting where my hat I have thrown,
For since there's no one near to turn,
I'm apt to lose it anywhere.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

At a recent meeting the 3rd Belleville Troop of Boy Scouts were held to Scouts, Guides, Cubs and Brownies of other troops and packs of the city at a party given by Corporal Powers and Company Store of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and Inspector Hayes of the Belleville Police Department.

A film was shown illustrating the necessity of caravans which is needed to prevent accidents. After films shown, were games of basketball in Quebec division, a comic picture and a sing-song.

Circulate Store and Inspector Hayes gave very interesting talks regarding safety rules which should be heeded by children in playing on the streets and in going to and from school.

Mr. Oliver Owen, president of the 3rd Belleville Group Committee acted as chairman for the evening. The films were shown through the courtesy of the National Film Board. The law enforcement officers endeavored to point out to the children that the policemen is the child's friend and not a person to run and hide from every time one is seen on the street. These officers are doing splendid work in their safety campaign and are to be highly commended for their efforts.

Approximately two hundred Guides, Scouts, Cubs and Brownies, accompanied by their leaders, thoroughly enjoyed the evening program which was held in the Christ Church Parish Hall.

Feared 5 Lives Lost in Rising Red Deer River

Red Deer, Alta., March 30.—(CP)—The turbulent Red Deer River was still rising early today after its exceptional heavy rain yesterday, during which five lives were feared lost and many others were feared hurt.

It is and always soaked into the banks and about necked into the fast-moving current of the normally placid river.

Local Canadian Mounted Police and they could not confirm that two women and three children, the youngest an infant of two months, had been drowned, but all indications pointed toward tragedy.

Neighbors said that they had heard screams yesterday from the one-room log paper shack where Mrs. M. H. H. and her family, Mrs. Clark and three children, were living.

Police said that a four-foot wall of water had moved the shack high and no trace could be found of its occupants.

The casualty rate among cattle and sheep was high and many feared that it would grow greater before the spring freshets begin.

Yesterday the river, normally a swift stream which flows an undisturbed course 14 feet from the banks, was in flood. In the two weeks evening a drop of about two feet was reported but there might be more rain again.

There is no report of any families evacuating their homes yet, and property damage has not yet been believed to have occurred.

HEADACHES EVERY DAY? YOU NEED MORE LIVER BILE

Science says you need more liver bile to keep your liver healthy and your system in good condition. For aches and pains, indigestion, constipation, headache, nervousness, and all the ills that come from a weak liver, take LIVER BILE. It's the natural way to keep your liver healthy and your system in good condition.

FRUITATIVES LIVER TARTAR

Had bad stomach for years. Limbs, back sore. Painful - tells of relief. "Tried All Sorts of Things, But Nothing Really Helped. Now I feel I Got System." Says This Grateful Man.

Nearly every day you can read in the paper about local men and women who have obtained a shortening relief by using a treatment of Systema Herbal Compound. Sufferers of stomach disorders, sluggish liver and kidneys, nervousness and rheumatism, aches and pains tell how this medicine has given them prompt, effective relief even when all other remedies have failed to help them. For example, Mr. Ben. Prior, 186 Adelaide Street south, Chatham, Ontario, said in a recent letter:

Veteran Trapper, Fred C. Myers, Still Missing

Schreiber, March 30.—(CP)—Ten old trappers of Northwestern Ontario, having yielded the secret of two murders within the last 24 hours, today stubbornly refused all knowledge of the whereabouts of a third man, veteran trapper Fred C. Myers, 50 miles north of Port Francoeur.

There was no suggestion on the part of provincial police of any connection between the missing trapper and the two slain women bullet-riddled bodies were found this week at the Mack Lake mine 45 miles from here.

In the latter case, Inspector Frank Kelly confirmed today that a number of charges would be laid against 35-year-old Charles Martin, former of Vancouver, originally brought to Port Francoeur in connection with a charge of forgery allegedly uttered at Schreiber.

Inspector Kelly announced at last that Martin would be questioned in connection with the murder of the two women. Joseph Grant, former of Toronto, 28-year-old married Dutchman of Quebec City.

The murder charge, however, was not announced until after Grants body with bullet wounds in both eyes and chest, was found bloody lying under four feet of snow about 175 yards from Grants house, a bullet wound in his back was found Thursday.

Investigation into Myers' death is reported to be progressing slowly. Police said last Sunday that it would probably be two weeks before any intensive search could be started.

He was first reported missing last March 5 when a visitor from Port Francoeur found the door of his cabin slightly open but no trace of any occupant.

Casual Shorties Making Big Play Suits Are Featuring Longer Look

This is a season in which the theory of the professional suit and full-length coats are, of course, in a way, contradicted, but casual shorties that so many men are buying are not at all new. They are a variation of the old suit, but with a new look, and a new popularity. The knee, full cut, and the long, straight, full length, in a word, are the new look. Police Skeptical Of Confessions Found in Murder Case. In Los Angeles

Los Angeles, March 20.—(AP)—Police were skeptical over the confession in the series of confessions to the slaying Jan. 12 of 21-year-old Elizabeth Short, the "Black Dahlia."

Capt. Jack Donahoe of the police homicide detail said there were several discrepancies with the facts in the statements made by the slayer's husband, Robert Bailey, that he had killed her with a Commando knife he gave her as she refused to go east with him.

"We regard Bailey's story as possibly true, but it has discrepancies just as other confessions to the murder," said Donahoe. "We don't think Bailey is lying. We more likely suspect that some of the others who have confessed."

Psychiatrists said the Black Dahlia's story is a neat classic manifesting the sadistic component of a solo-murder confession. She was tortured for hours, probably for evidence of identification, and then she was killed by a single stab to the heart and then she was killed by a single stab to the heart.

Capt. Joseph Downs of Claremont, N.H., a military policeman at Fort Dix, N.J., said he had been told by a soldier that he had killed her at the post the day of the slaying.

Emily E. Williams, a 21-year-old nurse at the Claremont hospital, said she knew Short, but police there released her because she killed Miss Short, but police there released her because she killed Miss Short, but police there released her because she killed Miss Short.

Numerous unsigned letters have been received by the police, but police there released her because she killed Miss Short, but police there released her because she killed Miss Short, but police there released her because she killed Miss Short.

The announcement is in line with Agriculture Minister Gendron's statement in the House two days ago that while a price increase or substitution of a price for a subsidy gives "unwarranted profits to holders of stocks, such profits will be purchased by the government at the old price and returned to the holders or sold at the new price."

Wife Charges Hubby Had 62 Women Friends

Detroit, March 20.—(CP)—Mrs. Byron Alton Thorpe, 34, said her husband kept a "written" record of 62 women friends, including addresses, telephone numbers, and tape recordings.

Legislative History Made When House Speaker Resigns

Tilt With Doucett Results In Unprecedented Action

day, when sittings are resumed in the third session of the 32nd Ontario legislature.

Went to deal with a problem unprecedented in legislative history. In a sudden move during yesterday's sitting, Hon. William J. Stewart, Speaker of the House, left the chair and a few minutes later had tendered his resignation as speaker to Major Alex Auld, the clerk. The fact that he had done so, however, was not known by most members until the short Friday sitting was adjourned.

Immediately there was speculation as to what would happen.

When the House adjourned the re-

Would the House accept the resignation of the member for Toronto-Parkdale? Would they ask him to reconsider? If Mr. Stewart remained firm, who would succeed him?

There was an excited buzz as the members slowly left the floor of the House but 59-year-old Mr. Stewart remained in his office, calm as he had been a short while before when he left the floor. He

Then he reiterated the statement that he had been doing his part "in upholding the honorable and ancient office of speaker."

Educational Notes

As a measure to promote educational policy and to assist in the stimulation of more interest in education and to give the public correct information, regarding education, the district of Belleville-Victoria Council will continue to hold the "Educational Road Show" to appear in the following cities: Belleville, St. Catharines, Hamilton, and Toronto. The Council is an organization of parents, teachers, and principals from public schools and the Belleville College and Vocational School.

The School of Teachers. The educational system of Ontario is so vast that it is little in common between them although a closer scrutiny might disclose that the basic ideas are very similar. In the last school with its crude wooden forms, the pupil learned his ABC's, his sums and the "Rule of Three," and by liberal application of the abacus.

Now, days, even the architect, tree and furniture are melted into one for which the building is intended.

The physical curriculum is designed to assist the pupil in becoming a useful, happy member of society. It will learn the fundamentals of reading, writing and arithmetic. There are three aims to the education of the child. They are to be taught to understand, to be taught to understand, to be taught to understand. The child learns to be a good citizen, to be a good citizen, to be a good citizen. The child learns to be a good citizen, to be a good citizen, to be a good citizen.

Split Canteen Funds 3 Ways Says Brig. Ross

Ottawa, March 22 (CP)—Brig. Alex Ross of Toronto, president of the Canadian Committee on Army Canteens, said today that the committee will divide its available money on an even basis among three different types of canteen: a possible third division for "bush" troops or those who refused to go on active service.

The former Canadian Legion president and wartime head of the Legion was service organization president that it is feeling the development among veterans their own situation to the changes already instituted and to find that education is not basic but new methods and new ideas are constantly being brought forward.

The Boy's Handicraft Club provides instruction for boys between the ages of 10 and 13 years of age in the city of Toronto. The club is a non-profit organization and its purpose is to provide instruction in handicrafts to boys who are over 10 years of age.

Various areas are taught where the pupils find opportunity make choices and develop facilities. These aid them to learn to use their leisure time properly.

It has been the aim of the opportunity class to lead each pupil to attack his problems with the confidence of success and to motivate him to find that he will be able to succeed in life.

Boys who have succeeded in the course have learned much of definite character traits, working ability and the capacity of co-operation.

At the of the Modern System of Art, the aim of the modern system of art in Ontario is to permit the child to express his individuality through media and by methods of his own choice.

Art has been called the vocabulary of the emotions. When art is poured into a minor place in the curriculum, it is not the art of the emotional side of human life, but the art of the emotional side of human life.

Art in the school is connected with general education for the development of better people.

Result of two separate incidents in different hotels on Saturday two out-of-town men were relieved of considerable sums of money. One man was relieved of his money in a local hotel room when his luck at poker failed him while the other was a case

According to the story told by police, a certain Prince Edward county man was accosted on a city street Saturday by a man wearing bushman's clothes and with a growth of beard. After a brief conversation the two went to a hotel room where with two other men a game of poker was started. The Prince Edward man won first, then lost, and after drawing approximately $1,500 from a local bank, lost it all in a matter of minutes.

Ford and Mercury trucks

A Statement by
DOUGLAS B. GREIG, President

"A reduction of $35 in the retail delivered prices of all models of Ford, Monarch and Mercury passenger cars and Ford and Mercury trucks became effective throughout Canada on March 22nd.

"When the Wartime Prices and Trade Board authorized increases in car and truck prices last December, we published a pledge that the moment conditions warranted, Ford of Canada would lower prices.

"Today's across-the-board reduction is the first step in fulfilling that promise. Although the Company suffered a loss on 1946 operations, there has been a gradual improvement in per. needs. We are immediately sharing with our cus- more and more people can buy. This policy has led to the sale of more than 2,000,000 cars and trucks in the 11 years of our history—the creation of a mass market which has meant better things for more people everywhere in Canada.

"There is another important reason for our action. We believe that the maintenance of a stable economy in this country is a necessary condition of the maintenance of a stable world economy. We believe that the maintenance of a stable economy in this country is a necessary condition of the maintenance of a stable world economy."

"We are hoping for the wholehearted support of our employees, our dealers and our suppliers in our continuing effort to lower costs and prices."

CHAPTER 12

Carol clomped her heels together in her lap and looked at the man with the fiery hair. She was staring, but she dropped her eyelids quickly and said, "What time is supposed to show, Willy?"

"Ten o'clock, here late," the man in the green hat answered. "You see, you're up off the green hat off her with a green hat, and the woman's a fellow fished. She said no more."

Willy was not writing anything in particular at the round, but he looked at the center of the room. Carol watched him, and in a brilliant inconspicuous way, his fingers played the fairy twirling of the pen. It made beautiful latitudes on a pad of white paper.

It was the only sound to be heard, the whispering of Willy's pen. It excited and excited and scratched at the girl's brain, until, when the telephone rang, she jumped in her seat and screamed.

"No one paid any attention to her. The room had become suddenly alive. The man got up off the couch. The fellow fished. Willy stood up and strode to the telephone, and the door was rapped off a few minutes later he replaced the receiver."

Willy looked at her, and to the front door, with the dark haired man behind her, she said, "You're coming in our car with us, Willy?"

"Willy said, 'No, no, no.'"

U.S. DOCUMENTS ACCUSE RUSSIA OF WAR OF NERVES

Tell of Master Plan to Make
"Molotov Plan" to Hold the Flag of Communistic Control over
Russia and Eastern Europe

By ALAN K. SINGLETON

Washington, March 24. (AP)—Documentary accusations of Russian attempts to hold the flag of communistic control over Europe and Eastern Europe, a two-day drive in the United States Congress today, bolstered those two countries' independence with American dollars, weapons and limited military aid.

The United States documents their "secret" laid removed under Congressional pressure to give the country the "full facts" of the "Molotov Plan," a "war of nerves" against Turkey, told of "Molotov Plan" to hold the flag of Communism, and called Poland a "satellite."

Instead of the documents, personally laid before the House of Representatives Foreign Affairs Committee for the private "back-ground" information of members, they furnished the United States with the first detailed information of the communistic threat behind the administration's "Molotov Plan" program.

Of Greece, the secretary secret documents said that the country, are part of a master plan to make unbreakable ties with the United States, to prevent Communistic attack.

It has been estimated that the northern neighbors and of E.A.M.

Malvern Students To Take Vote

By ALAN K. SINGLETON

Toronto, March 24. (CP)—Harry Goye of the student action committee of Malvern College laid last night a strong case for the students to vote today.

Goye said that the students had received "no satisfactory answer" in their request for an explanation of the removal of principal L. H. Clark.

Goye said the ballot would be secret and that if 80 per cent of the students favored a strike they would walk out immediately.

Goye said Dr. C. W. Golding, director of education, had invited to speak to the students today to explain why Mr. Clark was being ousted.

He said that the students had been told that if they voted for the removal of secondary school principal, they would be asked to explain the matter.

Goye said Mr. Clark had first spoken to the students last night.

Affairs of Publicly-Owned Power System May be Matter Of Debate in the Legislature

By ALAN K. SINGLETON

Toronto, March 24. (CP)—The affairs of the publicly-owned power system in the Dominion of Canada may be a matter of debate in the Legislature.

Mr. Chalmers, vice-chairman of the Commission and spokesman for the House of Commons, said that the House of Commons will be holding a debate on the subject of the power system in the Dominion of Canada.

However, he said, "The people of Ontario are not alarmed. There will be food for thought when the report is heard." Chalmers said that the House of Commons will be holding a debate on the subject of the power system in the Dominion of Canada.

volunteers would be completed before a shift was made on the afternoon of April 11. It is finally adopted.

Three different groups of engineers are studying the conversion problem. Mr. Chalmers said in an interview, "Our engineers, the electrical, the mechanical, and the civil, are all working on the problem. We have done this sort of work before."

"Neither government nor hydro power is turned on the conversion. But according to reports available, it seems advisable," Mr. Chalmers said.

The grey-haired cabinet minister from Ottawa would not comment on the proposal of a Progressive Conservative member that a step-up to 60 cycles could be achieved electrically for industries which require this form of power. The critic said money saved this way could be more wisely spent in building new power developments to prevent any possible future power shortage.

Supporters of conversion agree that it will involve millions of man-hours of labor and in this connection one official said: "This would not be beneficial if competition for skilled labor made such labor less available for the construction of more important social services. It might on the other hand be very difficult," he stated, "it could be considered a waste of money to convert widespread unemployment threat."

Fashion Flashes

ABSENT FOR A LONG TIME, and now returning, is the snug midsize-silhouette look over a pleated skirt. This line, in a two-tone effect, is used for a sporty look of pure silk shantung, black with a point of aqua, yellow and deep rose in an elongated black design. Blouses are called and there are large patch pockets.

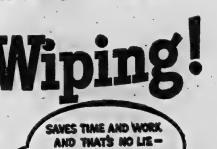

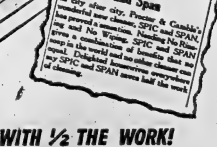

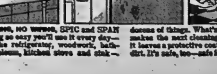

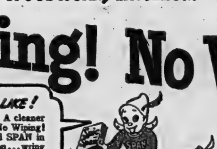

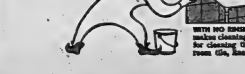

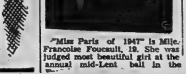

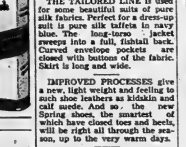

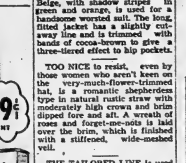

ITS COLOR all the way this Spring, even for tailored suits of the very-much-fur-trimmed hat, is a romantic shepherdess type in natural rustic straw with moderately high crown and brim dipped forward and set. A wreath of roses and forget-me-nots is laid over the brim, which is finished with a ribbon, wide-necked veil.

THE TAILORED LINE is used for the more beautiful suits of silk fabrics. Perfect for a dress-up suit is a silk tulle in navy blue. The long-trimmed jacket peeps into a full fabric back. Curved envelope pockets are closed with buttons of the fabric. Skirt is long and wide.

IMPROVED PROCESSES give a new light weight and feeling to such shoe leathers as kidskin and calf suede. And so the Spring shoe, the smartest of which have closed toes and will be right all through the season, up to the very warm weather.

A BIG VOTE for the derby or sailor hat makes it a holdover for Spring. One doesn't need a little bowler in white straw because the derby is so popular and generally draped with a white chiffon and a matching effect. This type of hat is right for all but the very picky wearer.

Howie Meeker's Backhand Specialty Gives Leafs 3-2 Win Over Detroit in Overtime

Both Teams Score One Goal in Second and Third Periods

By FRANK McDUGALL
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Toronto, March 27 (CP)—When Howie Meeker scored the long jump from under the net in the overtime period, the Toronto Maple Leafs won the third overtime game in a single season, beating the Detroit Red Wings 3-2 in a game that was a war of attrition in the nets and a goal-scoring race in the overtime period.

That play paid off for Toronto Maple Leafs last night when the coach's right wing scored the crucial goal in the overtime period, beating the Detroit Red Wings 3-2 in a game that was a war of attrition in the nets and a goal-scoring race in the overtime period.

The goal came as an amazing surprise to the 12,749 fans who were seated back for a long season of overtime and more of the action, typically played by the team playing in the regular season, in overtime.

It was the goal which gave the Leafs a 3-2 overtime win over the Detroit Red Wings, who had won the overtime in the opening game of the series.

ALL-STAR MINOR JAMBOREE TO BE HELD AT GARDENS

Two Junior B and Two Junior C Clubs Will be Chosen by Ballot

Toronto March 27 (CP)—Non-league teams are being invited by President George Porter of the Ontario Hockey Association for the all-star minor jamboree at Maple Leaf Gardens here April 11, which will probably attract every hockey team in North America.

The O.H.A. is scheduling a three-day tilt to Toronto with all expenses paid for the chosen players, who are being selected by the Toronto managers, and coaches who have been invited to be in the clinics of players, who are all from Junior B and Junior C teams throughout Ontario.

Four teams will be selected, two Junior C and two Junior B, with approximately 20 players named to each. Four members of the O.H.A. executive will act as team managers.

With Glen Sayer, manager of Toronto Maple Leafs, as president of the all-star event, the N.H.L. of co-operating, entire proceeds will be turned over to charity.

The O.H.A. will select the Stanley Cup final game—winner of the Junior B and Junior C—and will see the Eastern Memorial Cup final.

New York, March 27 (CP)—Frank Beaudry announced yesterday that his New York Rangers will open a Spring Training Hockey School in Windsor April 1.

"Now that the Rangers are out of the National Hockey League playoffs, the big mystery is what happened to the linebacks during the latter stages of the N.H.L. campaign."

The Rangers were better than a pistol until Feb. 23 when they started the downward slide that bounced them right out of the playoffs.

Beaudry said:
The story of the decline and fall was wrapped up in a remarkable series of injuries—starting with the loss of captain Chuck Hays, defenseman Bill Hicke, forward Edgar Laprade and forwards Grant Warwick, Charles Russell, Al Gardner and Alvie Pike all suffered injuries which cut down their effectiveness or added them to the injured list.

Education Catches Up
Another factor was exhaustion of the club to New York's holiday season, the Rangers played 68 games.

Granddaughter of the Famous Blondin Hopes for Permission to Cross Gorge

By WILBUR JENNINGS
Cleveland Press Staff Writer
New York, March 27 (CP)—A virtuous blonde girl with a winning smile believes she will be going down the cable and up again, since her aunt, who is now 80 years old, is the great-grandfather, the celebrated Blondin, died some 30 years ago.

The girl is Josephine Blondin, 21, who came to the United States from Czechoslovakia with her husband, a family in 1920 who is now living here.

The Blondin family, in answer to her persistent pleas by her aunt, returned her the right to risk her life over the gorge, she now is going to continue perfecting them.

Josephine weighs 125 pounds and is five feet, 5 1/2 inches tall, with blue eyes and very honey-colored hair, has been practicing all winter on a 60-foot pole for balance. Her backyard has served as training ground.

For the Paris crossing, she says she would use an inch and a half cable which would be more than a half mile long. She studied the pole at the foot of the cable and saw the toughest part of the trip would be going down the cable and up again, since her aunt, who is now 80 years old, is the great-grandfather, the celebrated Blondin, died some 30 years ago.

She would begin the journey on the Canadian side between Rainbow Bridge and the American side, would conclude at a point about 200 feet above the gorge.

"One of my biggest hazards was the old cable," she said. "The cable would be some 150 feet long, and I would have to concentrate entirely on the cable, but I wouldn't be afraid."

Josephine is a daughter of a family of tight wire and rope makers, which included her grandfather, who in 1850 crossed the gorge several times on a rope.

Her father, who is now 80, will pack her equipment, and begin a summer tour which will include six weeks at Canadian points beginning May 1 in London, Ont.

came from Senator Lister Hill (Dem.-Ala.), who retained a letter from Assistant Attorney General Wendell Smith, anti-trust chief, saying that Grand Jury action is expected "in the near future."

The printing industry in the United States has complained for months of a shortage of newsprint and the Senate's small newsprint producers and publishers to a sale of government newsprint to a voluntary solution.

Bill and that "monopolistic practices of the newspaper industry are forcing small publishers to the wall," and that he was "pressing for thorough and swift investigation by the anti-trust division."

Dog Derby Funds Aided Mercy Post

Modern Ray Junction, Sask., March 27 (CP)—The Red Cross hospital at this northeastern Saskatchewan town are not surprised to see patients arrive by dog sled and automobile.

Loggers, trappers and farmers of the area often arrive by more conventional methods of train and automobile, but, some come by dog sled and automobile and walk to the hospital for treatment.

The seven-year-old hospital's four nurses and two physicians are, like most hospital staffs in Canada, working overtime under crowded conditions.

Patients begin to arrive at the hospital as the basement, but, when there was water failure, a dog sled to raise money to improve a modern water system.

Hundreds of quarts of canned milk and vegetables are donated every year by farmers of the neighborhood to bolster the hospital's supplies. Two people donated $1,200 for the hospital's expenses.

There has been difficulty to keep staff at the small hospital. During the first month of operation, one of the two staff nurses, said she was frightened by the loneliness and resigned.

David, N.Z. (CP)—Steps taken by the New Zealand government to build a greater army by lowering the retiring age have been met with mixed reactions by servicemen. While it will mean that many men will be discharged, many officers and other ranks will be retained, and the government can reach the highest points of the military hierarchy.

The new regulations provide for retirement of senior officers on completion of appointment, brigades and battalions, and officers and colonels at 55, lieutenant colonels and majors at 50, and warrant officers, non-commissioned officers and privates at 45. Men now serving without appointment, but who can win commissions and be promoted, will be retired at 45 with superannuation pay.
